

ABSTRACT

A system for modulating and demodulating signals that provides a new class of signal modulators and their corresponding demodulators. The modulation scheme
5 embeds in an information signal a carrier signal by modulating the oscillatory rate of the carrier signal. The invention generalizes the possible carrier signals to any signal which can be generated by a dynamical system that have a known exponentially convergent observer, as in certain chaotic systems.